

A family heritage since 1906

Wheat

Reliable supply. Minimized risk. Innovative production, processing and supply. Many companies promise these things, but only SB&B has a heritage of delivering it. Our family-run operation produces, processes and supplies contaminant-free, identity preserve food ingredients you can depend on – and we've been doing it for generations.

Located in the heart of the United States' largest wheat producing state, SB&B produces, cleans and supplies wheat in the world's most demanding markets. With a strong focus on food safety, consistency, reliability and service; buyers are assured of receiving uncompromised product quality.

Firmly Rooted in Prime, Fertile Soil

Our reliable quality, purity and volume is a direct result of the close-knit, family environment we foster at SB&B. We started with premium land; and we've developed our innovative production and land stewardship techniques for more than a century.

- 100 years of wheat growing experience
